

British Literature (ENGL 2321)

Credit: 3 semester credit hours (3 hours lecture)

Prerequisite: ENGL 1301 (Composition I)

Course Description

A survey of the development of British literature from the Anglo-Saxon period to the present. Students will study works of prose, poetry, drama, and fiction in relation to their historical, linguistic, and cultural contexts. Texts will be selected from a diverse group of authors and traditions.

Required Textbook and Materials

There is no major text required for this course; HOWEVER, the major assignment requires a report on one of the following books. It is the student's responsibility to obtain a copy of one of these books to prepare for the major assignment.

Book List Will Be Provided by Instructor on First Class Day

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

1. Identify key ideas, representative authors and works, significant historical or cultural events, and characteristic perspectives or attitudes expressed in the literature of different periods or regions.
2. Analyze literary works as expressions of individual or communal values within the social, political, cultural, or religious contexts of different literary periods.
3. Demonstrate knowledge of the development of characteristic forms or styles of expression during different historical periods or in different regions.
4. Articulate the aesthetic principles that guide the scope and variety of works in the arts and humanities.
5. Write research-based critical papers about the assigned readings in clear and grammatically correct prose, using various critical approaches to literature.
