you will be able to apply five steps that will allow you to structure your deliberation meetings so that your time together is effective and efficient.
AGENDA

Step 1: Analyze facts in dispute and not in dispute

Step 2: Assess and evaluate credibility of witnesses and evidence

Step 3: Analyze the facts and the policy together to understand a cohesive narrative

Step 4: Determine responsibility based on your policy’s standard of proof

Step 5: Prepare your written determination letter

Analyze Facts in Dispute and Not in Dispute
Disputed and Undisputed Facts

- List important, undisputed facts
- List important, disputed facts
Disputed and Undisputed Facts

Undisputed facts – get parked to the side for later use in the puzzle

Disputed facts – move on to "the assess and evaluate credibility” – Step #2

Panelists must resolve the disputed facts

2. Type in chat disputed facts.

3. Type in chat undisputed facts.
2
Assess and Evaluate Credibility of Witnesses and Evidence
"Assess" Credibility of Witnesses and Evidence based on these categories:

- Reputation for truthfulness/untruthfulness
- Memory
- Perception – Were they drunk? Couldn’t see well?
- Motive to lie - relationships
- Bias
- Demeanor
- Inconsistencies and contradictions/consistencies
Differences among types of evidence

Primary evidence
• Authentic, relevant tangible evidence
• Firsthand, uninvolved, unimpaired witness reports

Secondary or tertiary
• Secondhand reports (rumors)
• Relevant, tangible evidence that can’t be authenticated

“Anti-evidence”
• Fabricated or tainted evidence

NOT ALL EVIDENCE IS CREATED EQUAL!
Evaluate Credibility of Evidence

Example 1: surveillance video or photos/videos

Example 2: standard forms or database information

Example 3: e-messages (emails, Instagram/ FB posts, texts)

Evaluate Credibility of Witnesses

- Other facts corroborate their version of events
- Inconsistencies and explanations to those inconsistencies
- Circumstantial evidence v. direct evidence
Poll

Is Circumstantial Evidence less credible than Direct Evidence?
Circumstantial Evidence

Evidence may be direct or circumstantial. Direct evidence is direct proof of a fact, such as testimony by a witness about what that witness personally saw or heard or did. Circumstantial evidence is indirect evidence; that is, it is proof of one or more facts from which one can find another fact.

You are to consider both direct and circumstantial evidence. Either can be used to prove any fact. The law makes no distinction between the weight to be given to either direct or circumstantial evidence. It is for you to decide how much weight to give to any evidence.
Evaluate Credibility of Witnesses – TIPS

• It’s human nature to have imperfect or inconsistent recall.

• Just because it doesn’t make sense to you does not mean the person saying it is lying.

• Just because someone is inconsistent (or flat wrong) doesn’t mean s/he’s a liar.
ACTIVITY

Listen to the mock hearing audio clips of Julie's and Zack's testimony

- Evaluate credibility on disputed fact
Putting it Together

1. Assess the person’s testimony standing alone.

2. Assess the person’s testimony with evidence received from that person over time.

3. Assess the person’s testimony with testimony from others (consistent/inconsistent?).

4. Assess the person’s testimony with evidence received from others (e.g., video, documents, etc.).

Analyze the Facts and the Policy Together to Understand a Cohesive Narrative
Before we get to the room where it happens...
Use a Tool
Putting the puzzle together
IRAC Model

• Identify the legal issues to be resolved (the I of IRAC);

• Interpret statutes and other rules (the R of IRAC);

• Provide reasons (analysis) why the rules do or do not apply to the facts (the A of IRAC); and

• Conclude by answering the legal issues through holdings and a disposition (the C of IRAC).
Practical Tips

• Use a matrix tool – proof analysis, IRAC, use a wipe board

• Pick a scribe to fill in matrix
  — Same scribe to write the "determination"

• Every voice is heard – no bullies
  — Timer; hold stick - gets to talk; organize your thoughts
  — Seek to understand point of view
